VIRGINIANS AT THE FAIR

Big Reception to Governor and Mrs. Montague at Monticello To-morrow.

BLUES' FIRST NIGHT IN CAMP

Severe Wind and Rain-Storm Nearly Tore Things Up-Canadian Regiment Near By.

(Special from a Staff Correspondent.) WORLDS FAIR, ST. LOUIS, MO., September 20.—The Virginians assembled here to participate in the exercises incident to the celebration of Virginia Day, have devoted their time thus far to doing the Fair, since nothing of a social or official indure is scheduled until Thursday afternoon, when the Virginia Society of St. Louis will tender a reception at Monticello to Governor and Mrs. Montague. The weather thus far has been very unsettled, and the grounds continue in bad condition, the mud being several inches deep in many places.

Storm Nearly Blows Camp Away At the Philippines exhibit, which, by the way, Is one of the most interesting of those here, I met Governor and Mrs. Montague together with the Governor's staff and the laddes, who make up the executive party. The Governor expressed himself as being carried away with the Exposition, which he had visited during his trip to the National Democratic Convention, but which at this time he did not have an opportunity to see properly. He and Mrs. Montague are being delightfully entertained at the home of Mr. Frank N. Johnson, president of the St. Louis Society of Virginia. The executive party also paid a visit to Monticelo where they were cordially received by the hostess. Mrs. Strother, and Commissioner Kohier.

The Blues spent their first night in "Model" Camp, and were comfortably quartered. During the night a severe wind and rain storm occurred. It was said to be the worst known here during the five months of the Exposition. For a few minutes it looked as though the camp would be blown away.

Next to Canadians.

Next to Canadians.

Thus far the men have had little duty. This morning they were marched to the Administration Plaza, where guard mount was held, but owing to the condition of the grounds, they were unable to do themselves credit. The Stonewall Band, of course, furnished music for the occasion. A large crowd was present to citch a glimpse of the Virginians, of whom they had heard so much. The Plues have for their neighbors, the Twenty-first Regiment of Essex Fusilers from Ontario, with headquarters at Windsor. The command, which is the crack regiment of Canada, has four hundred men in camp, and includes seven companies, a band of forty pieces and a drum and bugle corps of the same number. bugle corps of the same number. The Canadians have a very showy uniform and present a fine appearance, when on parade. Friendly visits are being exchanged between the Blues and the Englishmen, who are receiving the Virginians most hospitably.

Colonel Bartlett is in command of the Canadians. He told some interesting facts concerning the make-up of the regiment. He stated that Lieutenant Haddon was in the buttle at which the Hoer general, Cronje, surrendered and during the engagement, he was wounded eight times. He now carries two bullets in his body. An effort is being made 49, have the Canadians take part in the parade on Virginia Day, but at this time nothing definite has been decided.

The Stonewall Band will give a concert at the Virginia building to-morrow afternoon between the hours of 5 and 7 o'clock.

ABOUT TOWN By Harry Tucker,

We love our little linen suit, we love our Panama,
We love the corner seat upon the crowded trolley car;
We love the sweet pointo pie, the buttermilk so fine.
We love to streit out in the seat upon

Ourself and throw the shells upon the door beheath our feet;
We love to sit behind the man who chews his little weed,
While trolley car is speeding down the street at double speed.
We dove so much to stand behind the man with ancient cob,
And watch the fellow is the crowd the wealthy car man rob.
Eut most of all we love to sit beside the one we love.
Beside our brownleyd sweetheart, our queen, our little dove;
We lowk to be se crowded as to scarcely
For what is sweeter than the touch of the girl with the chestnut eye?

who was with Raymond and Florence,
